POLITICO New York Health Care

Delivered daily by 10 a.m., New York Health Care is your guide to the day's top health care news and policy in Albany and around the Empire State.

IN BUSINESS — SUNY College of Optometry signed a five-year, $12 million contract with NYC Health + Hospitals to provide vision services at four facilities, the city's public hospital system announced today. "This effort will help to improve patient outcomes, reduce health disparities and advance population health," according to Health + Hospitals.

Link Here.